A Small Museum Uncovers Misplaced, Forgotten, and Even Unknown Histories

GRANVILLE - On Wednesday, September 14, the Slate Valley Museum will present a free Zoom program exploring how museums collaborate with research partners like libraries, archives, historical societies, galleries, and other museums to explore hard-to-find or illusive stories of the past.

Over its 25+ years, the museum has reconstructed many stories related to the people in and around the slate industry. These histories aren't always easy to find in the records that remain, especially when they include groups of people who went through life largely unrecognized or unrecorded.

"We explore the stories of many marginalized or hard-to-track groups or individuals," explains Executive Director Sarah Kijowski. "Our search for sources can take us far and wide, and we wanted to offer a program that shares a few examples of how our small museum has navigated the challenge of access to create compelling and accurate narratives to share with the public."

The program will be a virtual panel discussion featuring researcher Bob Isherwood, curator of the museum's current exhibition One Painting, Many Stories, and Orson Kingsley, form museum assistant director and archivist and curator of the 2011 exhibition Rivals in Slate, Brothers in War, which explored the Civil War in Slate Valley history. Kijowski will moderate the discussion.

The exhibitions curated by Isherwood and Kingsley both included challenging histories. One Painting, Many Stories includes tracing the life of artist Martha Levy, who remains largely lost to history. Rivals in Slate, Brothers in War included explorations of the role of African Americans in the Civil War.

This free, online-only program will take place at 7pm. Attendees are encouraged to pre-register. Those interested in participating can find information about pre-registering and accessing the livestream on the museum's website and Facebook page closer to the event. Any questions should be directed to Museum Associate Wendy Bordwell at associate@slatevalleymuseum.org or 518-642-1417.

Local History Book Club

FORT EDWARD - Washington County Historical Society's local history book club will meet at noon on Friday, September 9, at the society's Wing-Northup House, 167 Broadway, Fort Edward. The club usually meets on the second Friday of the month. Historical Society membership is not required.

The September 9th topic will be any book on Washington County's 123rd Regiment in the Civil War.

Some options are: Reminiscences of the 123rd Reg. N.Y.S.V. by Sgt. Henry C. Morhous; The 123rd Regiment N.Y.V.I. 1862-1865 Their Story by Edie Baldwin Meikl; We Were Marched Hither and Thither... The 123rd NY in the Gettysburg Campaign by Michael Russert; Letters

Home: The 123rd NY Infantry in the Atlanta Campaign; and When This Cruel War Is Over by Charles Vavrina.

Some of these books are available in the WCHS book shop.

Future sessions of the club will include books about the larger Adirondack area as well as some works by local authors. The proposed list includes works on Henry Hudson's discovery of the Hudson River, Benedict Arnold's building of the first Navy in Whitehall, and Robert Rogers' writing of the rules for rangers in Fort Edward. For additional information, email Connie Harris Farrington at connieandlee@roadrunner.com.

The Cheese Tour with Wine, Beer & Cider

The Washington County Cheese Guild's annual cheese tour, now known as The Cheese Tour with Wine, Beer and Cider, will take place Saturday, September 10 and Sunday, September 11, 2022, from 10 am to 4 pm, offering a self-guided tour of artisan makers with tastings at each location. While the weekend event remains free of charge, the organization has partnered with Washington County's Comfort Food Community and is suggesting a $5 donation which will support food access, food recovery, and food as health throughout our region.

Adventurers will gather friends and family for this autonomous outdoor adventure to travel, over the course of two days, the twists and turns of Washington County's country roads, visiting cheesemaking farmers, a farm winery, a craft farmstead brewery, a farm cidery, and a dairy farms' new farm store. Free product samples may be limited based on turnout, but a full range of products will be available for purchase at each tour location. Other highlights will include live music, hay rides, and specialty menu items - like grilled cheese sandwiches - created just for the tour.

Participants of the 2022 Cheese Tour include The Argyle Cheese Farmer at their new location in Fort Edward, Consider Bardwell Farm of West Pawlet, VT and Hebron, NY, Dancing Ewe Farm in Granville, R.S. Taylor & Son Brewery in West Hebron, Slyboro Ciderhouse in Granville, and Victory View Vineyard in North Easton.

Joining this year's tour is Tiashoke Farm, a fourth-generation dairy farm located in Buskirk, but with a new farm store in Easton, NY where tour guests will be able to enjoy hayrides and purchase cheese along with pumpkins and other goodies.

Also new this season is The Cheese Tour's partnership with Comfort Food Community: a nonprofit that works to end hunger, support local farms, and build healthy communities throughout Washington, Warren, and Saratoga counties. Volunteers of Comfort Food Community will be at several participating farms during the tour to lend a hand and answer any questions. To support the important work of this local organization, a donation of $5 is suggested which can be made via Comfort Food Community's website.

"All of us who are part of The Cheese Tour always look forward to welcoming guests back to our farms," notes Angela Miller, President of the Washington County Cheese Guild - which organizes the event - and co-owner of Consider Bardwell Farm. "We're excited to see old friends and new faces, and share our passion, all while providing a better understanding of our craft with our customers," states Miller. "We're also thrilled to be partnering with Comfort Food Community this year as the organization is vital to our community's food needs."

The Cheese Tour is put on every year by the Washington County Cheesemakers' Guild, a small group of farmers and artisans in Eastern Upstate New York. The tour is a self-guided celebration of handmade artisanal and farmstead cheeses and the farms where they are produced.

Each farm opens to the public and offers samplings, special products, and authentic experiences unique to life on a farm in Washington County.

A Visit with General and Mrs. Grant

WILTON - Ulysses and Julia began their life together after their wedding in 1848. They already had faced trials of uncertainty and separation that came with the Mexican War and Grant's career as a soldier (until he resigned from the army in 1854). The years of struggle for financial security and his eventual triumph as commander-in-chief of the Union Army in 1865 followed.

Beginning in 1869, they spent 8 years in the White House during the tumultuous Reconstruction period, afterward traveling the world greeted by crowds, dignitaries, kings, queens, and emperors. Upon their return, they settled into a comfortable life centered on their children and grandchildren in their Manhattan townhouse. Whatever their circumstances, they were warmed by the joy of their happy family life and faith in each other.

Join living historians Steve Trimm and Melissa Trombley-Prosch as they interpret the life of Grant Cottage's favorite grandparent couple through anecdotes and stories in the setting of one of their last visits to Saratoga in 1882. Their beloved eldest granddaughter, little Julia (portrayed by Delilah Robinson), will accompany the couple.

A visit with General and Mrs. Grant will be held September 10 from 4:30 to 5:30 pm at the Ulysses S. Grant Cottage National Historic Landmark at 1000 Mt. McGregor Road in Wilton.

TREE AND LAND MANAGEMENT INC.

Fall Fertilization for Established Trees and Shrubs

Late Fall Fertilization is important to deciduous trees and shrubs: they have lost their foliage for the year and active growth of plants and trees has slowed. Rather than put on new foliage growth, the roots of established trees or shrubs take the nutrients from the soil and apply them to important health-promoting functions, such as disease resistance and root development. The excess nutrients are stored in the roots and become immediately available when needed for new growth in spring.
